AMPHIBIAN STAGE PRODUCTIONS

120 S. Main Street | amphibianproductions.org | facebook.com/amphibianstageproductions
Amphibian is dedicated to producing theatre that challenges the way we see the world around us.

ARTSGOGGLE MURAL LOCATION
Mike Moffatt and John Worley are the co-founder of Art Hunger, a Fort Worth art collective. As individual artists they specialize in visual art that draws upon iconic pop culture imagery. Using their unique perspective, Mike, John and the Art Hunger team will transform the northern wall of Amphibian Stage Productions with a striking mural.

STILT PERFORMANCES 1:00 P.M. & 4:00 P.M.

Stilt performances followed by Q & A from the audience. Amphibian welcomes anyone who wants to stick around and try the stilts themselves. The performance is a story about a famous French stilt-walker who walked from Paris to Moscow on his stilts.

Dona Swan Ayre | SWAN | donaayre@aol.com

My work is inspired by the images formed from a collection of photos left behind during Hurricane Ike. They are quite magical as one's imagination is encouraged to explore all possibilities. Please enjoy!

Morgan Flores | Morgan Flores Art | morganflores.com | morgan@morganflores.com

Morgan Flores' Art is made up of romanticized representations of the world around you, with bright colors, bold brush strokes, and stream of consciousness compositions. You will see hearts, flowers and seemingly oversimplified translations of plants and people. Linger a little longer, and within the flip facade of Morgan Flores' acrylic paintings, you will be infused by the richness of life. Somehow you will learn something new about the operation of existence.

Megan McIntosh

megan.mcintosh@mavs.uta.edu
Each piece of artwork will showcase a musical artist in a creative way to display their focused genre of music. These works will take a different approach on typical "music posters" to combine drawn and digital illustration. The design style in each poster correlates with the artist and their personal artistic style. In Miseducation, the artist Lauryn Hill is a very earthy and raw Neo-Soul signer. The poster represents her natural style as well as referencing a previous album cover, which is titled "the Miseducation of Lauryn Hill."

Andrew Czap

cargocollective.com/andrewczap
andrewczap@gmail.com
Poster over a social issue created for Advanced Typography. The quote is from an 8 year old girl who's parents went through a divorce. The typography is reflective of the emotion behind the words that she spoke.

Becky Forsythe

| Becky Forsythe of Green Frog Fine Art | beckyforsythe@sbcglobal.net
A native of Austin Texas, Becky Forsythe taught art in the public schools in Kansas, Texas and at Dallas Christian College. After working as a self-employed commercial artist, she recently founded Green Frog Fine Art and has gone back to her love of watercolor and acrylics. She incorporates bold colors and textures and blends realism with abstraction, utilizing strong design emphasis. Her work tends to develop out of close observation as well as imaginary conjecture. Using this trade she has started making jewelry as well.

STIR CRAZY BAKED GOODS | 106 E. Daggett Street | stircrazybakedgoods.com
facebook.com/pages/Stir-Crazy-Baked-Goods

The "Stir Crazy" name was born from a natural restless energy that certain members of owner Robbie Werner's family have been blessed (or cursed?) with. They decided to channel that stir craziness into making delicious cakes, cookie bars, breakfast breads, and other goodies to share. They are crazy about making our baked goods with tried and true all natural ingredients like organic flour, real butter and eggs that are produced nearby.

INGREDIENTS: A group show of artists who are also frequent customers at Stir Crazy Baked Goods create pieces inspired by treats from the bakery. All art sales will be contributed to charity. Featured artists are Carol Ivey, Carolyn Cruz, Jim Piepert, Brandy Cox, and others!

Fur Crazy Canine Cookies makes handmade treats from all natural ingredients for your furry friends.

Nathan Alcorn | Burst of Color Art | burstofcolorart.com | nathan@burstofcolorart.com
The style of my oil paintings express my passion for color, texture and motion. The burst of color throughout my paintings represent hope in a, sometimes, difficult world. Throughout my life I have been creating art. Painting is very rewarding for me. I use painting as a way to express joy, relieve stress and get lost in my thoughts and emotions. I started painting with oil paints for its vibrant color and the ability to add texture, which I believe expands the boundaries of painting beyond the flat canvas.

artsfortworth.org | texasartistscoalition.org
The Fort Worth Community Arts Center, a program of the Arts Council of Fort Worth, will display work for sale from our ARTshop and from our Texas Artists Coalition members. Arts Council programs address three main areas:

- providing leadership and funding to local arts organizations via our competitive grants program
- enhancing the visual environment of our city through the Fort Worth Public Art program
- offering an affordable and accessible venue for artists, arts organizations, and the community as a whole through management of the Fort Worth Community Arts Center.

Sylvia Baca | DragonheartArt | etsy.com/DragonheartArt | sylvia.baca@sbcglobal.net

Quality prints of nature from an Austin hill country photographer's perspective.

Danette Benton | dbentonphotography.com | info@dbentonphotography.com
My work is comprised of places that I travel. I photograph anything that causes me to want to capture that moment in time. I also collect interesting beads and gemstones from an area that I travel to and bring them home to Texas and create. I do not own a warehouse for my work and since my family and friends are overrun with my creative side, I have the need to display and sell my work so that I can take more photographs and collect more gemstones and create more.

Tyler Dixon | Eaten By A Dream | tad0626@gmail.com
Tyler works in many mediums such as acrylic, ink, digital, and even charcoal. He studied under Michael Mentler at The Society of Figurative Arts for several years. He then continued to study Illustration at The University of Arts in Philadelphia, The Milwaukee Institute of Art and Design, and The Academy of Art University in San Francisco. He possesses an entrepreneurial spirit that has guided him through prosperous artistic ventures since the age of 16. His latest endeavor, a collection titled Eaten By A Dream, shares his experience of allowing the mind to be unleashed – an intention he has carried with him for years. With a playful approach, his work has a whimsical essence with a dark, psychedelic twist. His creative process has no rules attached, drawing inspiration from his dreamscape. He primarily works in acrylics and ink, gravitating towards vibrant color schemes and free form line work.

Abel Garcia | abelgarcia.com | abelgarcia.design | carbonmade.com
abgarcia@carbonmade.com
Raised in Las Cruces, NM, Abel began drawing at only six years old. He continued to cultivate his talent, eventually attending New Mexico State University where he graduated in 2008 with a degree in both graphic design and art history. Abel draws inspiration from The Bible, hip-hop style, graffiti art, and the high renaissance movement. He successfully blends these differing elements into his own specific style using methods such as screen printing, oil painting, and drawing. Layering and the use of text play a large role in his work. Recently, Abel has been featured on DMagazine.com. Last year, at the RAW Artists finals in Austin, Abel was chosen by his peers as the Visual Artist of the Year. Among his other accolades, Abel is proud to say that this year his work was displayed on the billboards in Times Square in New York City, New York through the Artists Wanted organization.

Mejo Okon | Okon Studio
 mejookon.com | mejokon@hotmail.com
 Mejo Okon's colorful paintings follow a contemporary western theme. "Cloudless skies. Intense sun. Extraordinary heat. This is the Texas where I live and the home of cowboys, horses and cows. I am drawn to the details of today's working cowboy and the livestock they manage. Local ranches and small rodeos are my inspiration. Bold graphic colors speak to me in depicting the modern cowboys and their everyday lives." Okon's paintings have been showcased in Southwest Art Magazine. Her studio is located in the heart of the Riverside Art District, Fort Worth. Mejo will be one of 12 artists featured in Women of Art in the upcoming November issue of Southwest Art Magazine.

Tatara Siegel | tatarannesiegel.com | tatarasiegel@gmail.com

What do we choose to see? Do we see what others tell us to see? If I were to tell you that something is what it isn't, would you believe me? Would your level of belief be based on our level of acquaintance? Our perception is dictated by what we learn and what we experience. When what we learn is controlled or influenced by others around us, we loose sight of our truth and adopt a general truth. Once we establish a comfort level of general truth, we then develop facades. These facades are in our everyday interaction and function. We present these facades to rationalize the artificial and protect the actual. What is your truth?

Our work is mostly illustrative, experimental, and sometimes sustainable. As artists we explore and expand on the use of materials and processes of art making. We make conventional art on print as well conceptual art on recycled materials. We like our pieces to be aesthetically pleasing but also functional at the same time. Hence, some of our work consists of painted coffee cans to recycled cereal box sketchbooks.

The Quote by Claude Monet rings true for me and I'm inspired by his work.

"For me, a landscape does not exist in its own right, since its appearance changes at every moment; but the surrounding atmosphere brings it to life - the light and the air which vary continually. For me, it is only the surrounding atmosphere which gives subjects their true value."

moncrief.com | facebook.com/Moncrief.Cancer

Moncrief Cancer Institute specializes in providing prevention, survivorship, and support services that are so important to defeating cancer and limiting its impact on your life. While it began as a radiation center more than 50 years ago, Moncrief left radiation services in 2006 and moved in a new direction. They are now affiliated with the UT Southwestern Harold C. Simmons Cancer Center, the only National Cancer Institute-designated cancer center in North Texas. Moncrief recently opened a new 60,000 square foot facility on W. Magnolia Avenue.

Fort Worth Opera Performing at 4:30 P.M.

fwopera.org | facebook.com/FortWorthOpera

Over coffee one morning in 1946, Mrs. E.L. (Eloise) Snyder and Mrs. August (Betty) Spain, both former opera singers, and Mrs. Jeanne Axtell Walker decided it was time for Fort Worth to launch an opera company of its own. With the help of hundreds of community volunteers, these ladies pulled off what many thought to be an impossible feat, bringing together all of the necessary elements for a first-class opera production in just seven months. From these inspired beginnings, Fort Worth Opera has continued to provide countless memorable performances. Fort Worth Opera remains one of the 14 oldest opera companies in the entire nation, and the oldest continuously performing opera company in Texas.

Fort Worth Opera also boasts a highly successful opera education program bringing the exciting and colorful world of opera to over 50,000 school children each year across the state of Texas. The tour provides the first experience with classical music and drama for many elementary and middle school students.

The Citizen Theater Presents

Short Films from some of today's top Texas filmmakers | Runtime: 1 hour 5 minutes
12:00. 3:00 & 6:00 P.M.

This collection of short films exhibits the phenomenal range of human discourse. Witness the impact that one person can have on another in stories that move from darkly comic to emotionally profound. The filmmakers on display are all directors who started off small and have moved on to make feature films establishing Texas as a hotbed for talent in the world of Independent Film.

Redemptitude by The Zellner Brothers

A preacher ventures deep into the Australian Outback to save the soul of a man who's abandoned his faith.

David and Nathan Zellner are Austin-based filmmakers who have written, produced, and directed numerous award-winning shorts and feature films. Goliath premiered at the 2008 Sundance Film Festival, while Kid-Thing followed a 2012 premiere at the Sundance Film Festival with an extensive festival run, including an international premiere at the Berlin International Film Festival. The Buenos Aires International Festival of Independent Cinema held a retrospective of the Zellner brothers' work to date in 2012. Their latest film is Kumiko, The Treasure Hunter which premiered this year at Sundance where it was quickly snatched up for distribution and caught the attention of Alexander Payne (Nebraska) who came on as Executive Producer.

The Fickle by Bryan Poyser

A short film for USA Network's Character Project starring Katie Aselton of The League. In one mesmerizing, un-broken take, a woman experiences 13 mornings with 13 former lovers all at the same time, losing herself in the question — has she just been too damn picky?

Bryan Poyser is a two-time Independent Spirit Award nominee. His third feature, Love & Air Sex, premiered at the 2013 SXSW Film Festival and was released in theaters by Tribeca Films. Bryan's second feature Lovers Of Hate premiered in the US Dramatic Competition at the 2010 Sundance Film Festival and was nominated for the John Cassavetes Award at the 2011 Independent Spirit Awards. Lovers screened at over a dozen other festivals around the world and was released theatrically by IFC Films. Bryan was nominated for the Independent Spirit "Someone to Watch" Award in 2005 for his first feature, Dear Pillow. He lives and works in Austin, Texas, where he also lectures on screenwriting and directing at the University of Texas and Texas State University.

Cork's Cattlebaron by Eric Steele

A young protégé and his boss sit down for the most epic steak dinner of their lives in Omaha, Nebraska

Eric Steele is a playwright, filmmaker and producer from Dallas, TX. His latest film as writer/director is Bob Birdnow's Remarkable Tale Of Human Survival And The Transcendence Of Self which is based on his play of the same name. The film has gone on to critical acclaim, playing festivals around the U.S. Steele also produced Sundance hit Pit Stop and is one of the operators of the Historic Texas Theatre in Oak Cliff, TX.

Hellion by Kat Candler

All hell breaks loose when little Petey Wilson and his two hell-raising brothers are left home alone. But can the boys suffer the consequences of their reckless behavior? Hellion takes us through the eyes of a seven-year old dreading the ultimate fear, punishment.

Kat Candler's award winning short films Hellion and Black Metal have screened at Sundance, SXSW, Los Angeles Film Festival, San Francisco International Film Festival, and more. Her feature film, Hellion (based on this short) starring Aaron Paul and Juliette Lewis, premiered at the 2014 Sundance Film Festival and was released in theaters and on VOD through IFC and Sundance Selects. Candler was a recent recipient of the San Francisco Film Society/Kenneth Rainin Foundation Grant for her upcoming feature script Black Metal. Candler is a film production Lecturer at the University of Texas.

Pioneer by David Lowery

A little boy awakens from a nightmare on a dark and stormy night. His cries wake his father, who comes to his room and proceeds to regale him with a dark and epic bedtime story that is one part history, two parts make believe and riddled through and through with the honest to goodness truth. The film stars popular musician Will Oldham. Pioneer premiered at Sundance Film Festival and was awarded Best Narrative Short Film at SXSW Film Festival in 2011.

David Lowery had his breakthrough with his first feature film, St. Nick, which follows two runaway children abandoned by their guardians. The film premiered at SXSW in 2009. It won the Texas Filmmaker Award at the 2009 AFI Dallas International Film Festival. In 2013, Lowery directed his second feature film, Ain't Them Bodies Saints, which stars Casey Affleck and Rooney Mara. The film was nominated for the Grand Jury Prize at the 2013 Sundance Film Festival. It was selected to compete at the International Critics' Week section of the 2013 Cannes Film Festival. In addition to having edited films such as Amy Seimet's Sun Don't Shine and Shane Caruth's Upstream Color, he also co-wrote Pit Stop with director Yen Tan. Lowery is currently in preproduction to direct a reimagining of the Disney film Pete's Dragon.

Aftermath On Meadowlark Lane

Aaron Johnson | Aaron Mitchell Johnson
aaronmitchelljohnson.com | aaronjohnsondesign@hotmail.com
I recently opened a studio in the beautiful and historic Victory Arts Center and I'm excited about supporting my new neighborhood! This work is about layers of meaning, layers of emotion, layers of darkness and light. Most of the times my paintings are built on the complex noise of crumbling pages from old books and the stories they once were. Now just visual noise, these words are from another time that no longer have validity, but still provide the literary foundation that our society was built on, and subsequently the aesthetic foundation from which my paintings are made. From there the smoky haze ink is applied. Bold brushstrokes, layer upon layer, dark to darker, drawing the viewer in, then morphing into an ideogram or a type of calligraphic abstraction. Ultimately, these paintings are about understanding that meaning and clarity are not always lost in the depth of darkness. These things exist, hiding in the shadows waiting for discovery.

Painting is a consistent daily focus in my life. It is the bridge between cross-cultural insights in world views which holds my interest. The artist/scientist has the potential of enabling a higher-periphery intelligence through imagery. Both artist and viewer collaborate to be congruent in higher levels of abstraction. Both can mutually suspend beliefs of present world views to enter a deeper transcendence. The intent is to align the heart/brain into a creative and prosperous development process. The alignment creates a molecular, biological and cultural path to develop new wholistic maps as individuals, social beings and humanists. In the end, living in close proximity with a painting sets in motion a moment of daily subliminal experience.

Unique, handcrafted jewelry made from Earth's brilliant crystals and stones. We are best childhood friends who grew up in Fort Worth. Amber Lansing is pursuing her CPA license, and Caitlin Denmark is an Orthotist/Prosthetist. After receiving many compliments on our handmade stone and crystal jewelry, we wanted to share our passion for Earth's works of art with others. Our jewelry collection appeals to women and men of every age and background, and our goal is for everyday art lovers to wear a unique piece of the Earth.

Clients of the Hope Center for Autism

hopecenter4autism.com | laura4autism@aol.com

Each piece of art is an original work done by an individual child at Hope Center for Autism. The Hope Center for Autism provides one on one Applied Behavioral Analysis (ABA) Therapy to children on the autism spectrum. We build each program to meet the needs of that child. When you become a client your child does not join a program; we build a program for your child put together to meet your child's specific needs and strengths. At the Hope Center for Autism we strive to provide your family with support. The child is not the only one who is affected by autism. The family is equally affected and the unit is forever changed. It is our desire to help you as a family find a new normal. The life you dreamed of is not gone, it's just different. Most of all, we provide your child with respect and dignity through therapy.

MOONLIGHT TRADING COMPANY | 1314 Alston Avenue | moonlighttradingcompany.com
Devin Holloway and Jan Ivy have had a lifelong affection for antiques and vintage items. Their hunting ventures have taken them as far away as England and as close as the wonderful little towns of Texas and across the country. If you are looking for something special, just let us know, and we will find it. Moonlight Trading Company is a retail store combining elements of vintage and antique furniture, lighting, paintings, and home décor.

John Ladd | John F. Ladd Fine Art | johnladd.com | ladman1@mac.com
Fine art photography, abstraction, hurricanes, twisters, the eye of the storm, the heavenly calm afterwards, from the outer banks to the Abaco cays in the Bahamas, multiple exposures, metaphysical abstractions, odd old things with a life to them. I work both in medium format film, and in digital formats and often blur the boundaries. As an example one week I am in the vast empty desert canyons of the Palo Duro, the next week in a flooded out post hurricane Sandy Abaco Bahamas and somehow, these images are related by more than being just polar opposites. This is what makes my work captivating and thought provoking. I have work in a number of fine collections, in the USA and abroad. And have most recently garnered attention for my environmentally based documentation of the sensitive and battered outer banks of North Carolina.

Angie's Cosmic Studio was created by 25 year old artist Angela Morrell. After being diagnosed with an autoimmune disorder in December, including Ulcerative Colitis and Fibromyalgia, Angela decided to shift her focus from her chronic pain to spray paint art by creating bright and colorful dreamlike escapes on both canvas and poster board. A self-taught and passionate artist, Angela has also created personalized custom paintings, including the Star Wars Death Star, Deadmau5, Pink Floyd Dark Side of the Moon, Super Mario characters, and Mickey Mouse. Almost all of the art found in Angie's Cosmic Studio is "black light-friendly" and some paintings are "glow-in-the-dark."

Nuevo Urbanismo / the Urban Southwest: Bold colors and loose lines form these energetic interpretations of traditional genres. Beyond the paint drips and scuff marks the viewer finds delicate brushwork. Made in the manner of the French impressionist a dash of Krylon brings a fresh feel to landscapes and portraits. The pottery leans towards a sense of immediacy. Embellished with whimsical drawings the earthenware finds a happy median between rustic and Zen.

SPAWGLASS CONTRACTORS, INC. | 1000 W. Magnolia Avenue | spawglass.com
Louis Spaw and Frank Glass first met at Rice University in the late 1930s. Fifteen years later, the pair crossed paths once again and started their own construction company - SpawGlass. Now, 61 years later, SpawGlass' revenue exceeds $475 million per year and is 100 percent employee-owned. We are driven to provide our clients with the absolute best construction experience, resulting in long-term relationships with clients, architects and specialty contractors. One thing that has never changed since 1953 is SpawGlass' passion for its people. As Louis Spaw stated, "We don't just build buildings. We build people."

Heather Bond | Art of Heather
artotheather.com | waterwizardnow@charter.net
Heather Bond is a local Fort Worth artist that paints her paintings in a series of themes. Each series of paintings reflect an experience, or reflection of her her own evolvment both artistically and spiritually. All of her work is oil on canvas and she builds a custom box frame to make it ready to hang. Her Underwater Series and her latest, Goldfish series are on display this year at ArtsGoggle.

The underwater series is representative of her love for light and water reflections. She captures several dramatic scenes that are open to your own story interpretation. The Goldfish series is showing her love for the liquid movements and striking orange colors of the goldfish. The story of fortune that goes with the fish and how the fish alone and in a human story can be a powerful relationship in the art piece.

A native of Fort Worth with a passion for art and music, growing up I was always drawing, painting, working with clay, and many other mediums. I like to think I see things in everyday life that other people may overlook. My mother began instilling a love of music, literature, and art in my life since infancy. My father tried to teach me to look at things from “outside the box”, always saying “you need to know how things work”. As I have grown I have noticed everyone is in a hurry and they tend to let the day pass in a rush. I have always had a passion for capturing moments with one precise image. Something to take with me and say “this was a good day, a special day, and it should be remembered.”

 jameshaddock.com | jhaddockart@jameshaddock.com
 Resident artist at 1208 West Magnolia. After a 44 year career in education as a teacher and counselor, I seemed to just unleash a passion for art. I had learned much from observing nature while living on and improving a five acre wooded lot. Naturally the textures and colors of nature, including the spring and fall colors of North Texas, can be seen in my paintings. My mixed media art is experimental art. I normally do not have a preconceived idea about the art piece when I start, which is so exciting because the outcome is always surprising. When I do begin with a specific idea, the result often surprises me, thus each finished piece is a unique, one-of-a-kind, and never can be duplicated.

 Photographer Brian Hutson captures extraordinary images that are truly works of art. He has been a professional photographer since 2004, but has had a camera in hand since he was only 9 years old. Brian's visually stunning photographs each tell a story of their own. His use of architectural angles and vivid colors create impactful imagery. As a published photographer, Brian's award-winning work has been featured in: USA Today, The New York Times, Food Network, ELLE Decor, Men's Health, NBC, as well as various magazine covers, advertising campaigns and websites.

Monika Kusinska Paez | Autograf New York
 In honor of Breast Cancer Awareness Month, Hutson Studio is launching a collection of art pieces, featuring watercolor illustrations of beautifully intricate lace bras. The series of limited edition art pieces and notecards are hand-drawn and painted by fashion designer and illustrator, Monika Kusinska Paez. Kusinska Paez, who is currently the president of Autograf New York, has also designed for brands including Ann Taylor, Fossil, Lucchese and the Camuto Group. The four exclusive prints include a magenta lace bra thoughtfully named "The Ashley" for a dear friend recently diagnosed with breast cancer; a portion of the proceeds from all prints from this collection will be donated for her medical care. The art prints will be available for purchase as notecards, large prints and canvases, retailing from $5-$500. Guests may enjoy complimentary signature pink bubbly from Kent & Co. Wines and beer from Rahr & Sons Brewing Co.

 The expressive arts have been part of my life since childhood, beginning with dance. In the early 1990's, and most recently as part of my healing process, following my diagnosis of breast cancer in 2012, I began watercoloring. My art is a display of soulful expressions; from grieving my changed body to celebrating my full recovery. Depicted through whimsical figures and light colors, my work includes images of inspiration, self-love and peace. Influenced by my passions for dance, water, nature, travel and spirituality, the mixed media of watercolors provides a playful, healing or self-reflective visual. It is my honor to share my art, as each piece continues to be a reminder of self renewal and hope for others.

Jason Eggenburger & Steven Halliday | 97w
 studio97w.com | steven.halliday@studio97w.com
 Founded by partners Jason Eggenburger and Steven Halliday, 97w is a Fort Worth, TX based, collaborative design lab that produces sustainable, limitless and timeless architecture and art. Through a process of iterative experimentation, 97w operate as a workshop – exploring ideas of time, space, light and materiality.

97w originated in Fort Worth, Texas, a frontier city located on the 97th meridian. In 1893, Frederick Jackson Turner introduced The Frontier Thesis, which stated that the seemingly boundlessness of a western frontier was the primary factor in the development of American civilization. Walter Prescott Webb later identified the 98th meridian as the key geographical feature in the development of American history and culture. The adaptation to a dry, treeless climate forced radical change in every aspect of American art, agriculture, industry and especially architecture. In the absence of a physical frontier, 97w carry these traditions on in the way we address the challenges of the modern frontier.

Whimsy and fun are integral to what I do. I work in mixed media, typically a combination of watercolor, collage, and stamping. The work includes purely abstract, symbolic, and representational work. I'm currently interested in the textures and color I've discovered in topographical maps, incorporating torn pieces, strips, and shreds into the composition. I enjoy the transparency and immediacy of the watercolor, contrasted with the texture and opaqueness of paper and original stamps I've hand-carved.

Infatuated with the smell of ink and turpentine, printmaking was my first love—a relationship that was threatened when I was introduced to painting. After graduating from the University of Texas at Arlington with a BFA in Painting, I engrossed myself in the study of creating my own pigments for oil and watercolor along with art restoration. Notably, I never divorced printmaking and launched into my current practice of combining the two mediums. I primarily use the unique combination of Linocut and oil paints on panel, to express my main subject matter of environmental politics and psychological states of mind, the external and internal battles in our existence.

FUTURE HOME OF THE CITIZEN THEATER | 1455 W. Magnolia Avenue
thecitizentheater.com | facebook.com/citizentheater

LEARN ABOUT THE FUTURE OF THIS VACANT LOT!

Your days of driving all the way to Dallas to see good movies are numbered, friends. In a city known for its love of art and world class museums The Citizen will be Fort Worth's first three screen art house cinema. In addition to showing amazing new and repertory films they will also serve fresh gourmet concessions from Spiral Diner's treasure trove of dessert recipes along with a top notch beer and wine selection. At The Citizen they take the film going experience to heart and will show all films with state-of-the-art sound and projection. The theater's design will hearken back to the most beautiful classic movie palaces. Owner, Amy McNutt, creator/owner of the Spiral Diner and Bakery chain of award-winning vegan restaurants, not only has considerable experience creating and running every aspect of a highly demanding business, she also has a degree from the top-rated film school in the country, The University of Southern California School of Cinema-Television. Owner James Johnston, Amy's husband, is a celebrated Texas producer, writer and director. He is known for films Deadroom (2005), St. Nick (2009), Pioneer (2011), which won the Grand Jury Prize at six film festivals including South by Southwest. He also produced Ain't Them Bodies Saints by writer/director David Lowery, which premiered in competition at the 2013 Sundance Film Festival, and the film Pit Stop by Yen Tan, which premiered at Sundance in the NEXT section. Opening a three-screen theater is something they have been dreaming of and planning for the last 10 years and it's going to be awesome.

Our work is mostly illustrative, experimental, and sometimes sustainable. As artists we explore and expand on the use of materials and processes of art making. We make conventional art on print as well conceptual art on recycled materials. We like our pieces to be aesthetically pleasing but also functional at the same time. Hence, some of our work consists of painted coffee cans to recycled cereal box sketchbooks.

Sam Petty | FWAFA alumni

sampetty.carbonmade.com | spetty@stedwards.edu

Largely 2D, I consistently use ink and acrylic paint to illustrate people I know personally or situations I have imagined in a stream of consciousness style. I aim to express beyond the limitation of words and show you the world I see through the filter of my perception.

Briana Williams | FWAFA ALUMNI | briana.sere.williams@gmail.com

My works incorporate mundane or household objects in which I try to change the relationship the viewer can have with these objects. Typically my work incorporates elements of new media to create a phenomenon out of these articles. This is the primary media I use to unravel the thread of logic that secures, forms, and delineates our understanding with such ordinary items. I call into question my objects and point towards the events around or outside of them to agitate symbolic meaning.

Kareen Coyoca Ross | Independent Photography | coyoca4@gmail.com

For the past year I've been living in Myanmar, one of the most beautiful yet devastating areas of Southeast Asia. Immersed in such a unique world for that length of time unearthed the humming desire I have always had- to fervently document moments from my own observatory. I value suspended moments that tell themselves without uttering a single word, either keeping or revealing a secret and that can sometimes just get lost in translation. At times they are simple and on occasion they are complicated; everyone's lenses are different. From mine, I treasure the faces of individuals I capture, a connection and perspective I can best describe as "eigengrau," a German word that literally means "intrinsic gray" but also refers to the dark grey color seen by the eyes in perfect darkness. I wouldn't consider myself a travel photographer or even a storyteller, just opening a gateway into another world with shutters and apertures instead of paper and pen.

My twin loves of photography and travel emerged early in life. Today, travel is still a passion for me and I am happiest when I am seeing and experiencing new things whether locally or globally. My goal in producing my photographic art is to communicate my emotional investment with an image. I want to viewer to see what I saw and feel what I felt. Because life's experiences are so varied, I believe that each photographic image begs for an individualized approach to processing. You will see in my portfolio images that are sunny, moody, dark, happy, brooding, bright, colorful, monochromatic, reminiscent, modern, sharp, soft, warm or cool. Images are printed on archival photographic paper and/or canvas. New this year, selected images will be printed on wood.

Memories in the Making Alzheimer's Association
 North Central Texas Chapter
 alz.org/northcentraltexas/alzheimers_disease_62682.asp | lisa.buck@alz.org
 Memories in the Making is the Alzheimer's Association art program for people with dementia. With some assistance, individuals who are losing the ability to communicate with words pick up a paint brush and express themselves in watercolor paint. There is no right or wrong way of painting: the only rule is that each mark on the paper must be the artist's own, an authentic signature of the person within. The poetic and enigmatic works of art, along with the titles and stories the artists give them, present a window onto the world of those who are losing the ability to think, speak or do.

My forms are wheel thrown vessels and sculptured clay. The finishes are produced by smoke firing in seaweed, sawdust and oxides added in to produce flashes of color. No glazes are applied just smoke. They are very organic, earthy burnished forms that are tactile as well as visually appealing. I also have a line of vessels that are wheel thrown red earthenware. These have a black luster glaze applied in rhythmic linear patterns.

LAZARUS STUDIO | 1617 Park Place Avenue
Julie Lazarus' most recent body of work includes oils on canvas and hand-blown glass vessels created during her recent visit to Venice. Julie Lazarus returned to Venice in July, marking her seventh year to work alongside master glassblowers on Murano, the small Venetian island recognized for its hand-blown glass. The glass studio is renowned for hand-blown creations that interpret the painter's vision, in this case Ms. Lazarus' vibrant paintings inspired by the light and the color of the landscape she experienced.

Although abstract, Julie Lazarus' paintings are based on her observations while in Venice. Her work is a melding of the color and texture, the elegance and the ratty edginess of this glorious European city. Mixed-media works by Ms. Lazarus often combine painting with intaglio or wood block printing on delicate rice paper. These works created on paper are often mounted on canvas or mahogany panels, adding a unique physical characteristic to her work.
